
3) Learning material was made available in a well-organized and easy to follow structure
4) The course provided opportunities for student-to-student interaction that helped build a sense of community
5) Students were encouraged to engage in the course and communicate with the instructor
6) The instructor provided clear expectations regarding the quality of assignments
7) The instructor provided regular and effective communication				